

TUE-DAY EVEN'G, APRIL 16, 1901,

THE ROBBERS in the U. S. army at Manila evidently suppresed that after them would come the deluge, and that therefore they might as well have a "good time utterly reckless of consequences." They, therefore, had prolonged revel, in which they indulged to their hearts' content in wine, women and carriages, and were so pleased with themselves and the world at large and so liberal that they did not confine their enjoyment to them selves, but allowed all their acquaintances to partake with them, officers and privates alike, abandoning themselves to the pleasures of the day and taking no heed at all of the morrow. their actions being founded on the idea of steal and spend all you can now for there will come a time when you can't do either. But it has always been so from the beginning in conquered provinces and will likely be so until the end, and the world is probably wise in not interfering, but are speeding on the robbers and encouraging them to do their worst as the best and easiest and most expeditious way of stopping the evil, as other devil's carnivals have been brought to a close. Thomas Jefferson, if alive, would feel like committing suicide for having ever supported a government under which such a cordition could exist.

THE administration tells the Cuban commissioners before they arrive that they are coming on a useless mission as the terms that have been offered them are the best they can possibly hope for, and that the longer they postpone their acceptance the worse it will be for them. But such is most always the case in a difference between a strong and a weak nation. Might makes right now in the United States as it always has been, and everwhere else. But in no other country is humanity, civilization, justice and christianity professed to such an extent as here.

THE evidence is becoming more and more conclusive as the trial of the Goebel murderers proceeds that Mr. Taylor, who thought he would be the chief beneficiary of that crime, was also its chief promoter, and in view of it it is highly probable that the present Governor of Indiana, Mr. Durbin, may be compelled to deny him the same harbor afforded by his predecessor, Governor Mount, and allow the law officers to arrest and take him back to Kentucky for trial and the punishment he so justly deserves for his deliberate and cold blooded crime.

THE British in South Africa and the Americans in the Philippines always speak of the people of those countries who are trying to defend their homes and families, as "robbers," and, worse the commerce of that town, but that still, treat them as such and hang and they think the bridge will be so high shoot them in short order. Many brave and true patriots in both countries have come to an untimely end by such treatment, but they are happy now because they are at rest.

THE thieving allies in China fell out on their present and prospective plunder, but the honest Chinese do not get their dues. If in the whole Chinese empire there be a man like Genghis Khan, the allies would be swept out of that country with the besom of destruction before the next moon. But the general deterioration offmen is as apparent in China as it is in this and all other countries.

THE HARSH and cruel punishmen to which the Filipinos are sentenced by the drumbead court martials in northern Luzon that try them, are so unjust that even the U. S. General commanding there has disapproved and set them aside. But the new officers who rendered the verdicts will probably be pro-

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gasette, Washington, April 16. The holding of the Supreme Court of The holding of the Supreme Court of the United States yesterday in regard to divorce decrees obtained in States other than where the parties have established their legal residence as husband and wife is most sweeping in its character and will have the effect of practically destroying the advantages of the Dakotas and other western States as divorce colonies. In brief the Supreme Court of the United States maintains the general principle that a maintains the general principle that a divorce decree is valid in other States only when it is obtained in the State where the couple have maintained their "marital domicile." The case decided was that of Streitwolf ys. Streitwolf, in which there were no other questions involved. August Streitwolf, of New Brunswick, N. J., went to North Dakota to get his divorce. In order to make his near residence as effective as possible he sold out his business in New Jersey and established it in North Dakots. He remained there 18 months, not only sufficient time to give him standing in the divorce courts there, but also to ac-quire a voting residence. He was granted a decree of divorce and return-

He was done of the has represented his country here for twenty years, first as Minister and later as Ambassador. He was dean of the corps for some years until in 1893 the English legation was raised to an Embassy, and Sir Julian, now Lord Pauncefote, because of this increased rank diplaced him as dean. The reason for Baron Fava's recall is made a mystery. The Baron himself says that he personally applied for retirement because of important family affairs requiring his presence in Italy where he will resume his duties in the Italian Senate. On the other hand, however, it is known that the Italian residents in this country have for some years complained that the Baron did not maintain an establishment to comport with the dignity of his government. They have frequently made objections to the economical manner of life of their diplomatic representative. For several years his legation was over an obscure barbershop in a side street. Baron Fava's successor is Marquis Otizzo Malispina Carbonra, who is now Italian minister to Argentina.

It is reported that friendly negotiations are passing between Russla and Japan regarding their respective interests in Manchuria and Corea, which, it is hoped, will result in an amicable understanding as to the future influence to be exerted in that province by the two powers. The idea that war might ensue because of the differences between those two nations is said to be entirely without foundation. Foreign entirely without foundation. Foreign markets, although tempted by flattering rates of interest. The government's recent attempt to float a foreign loan has not proven a success, while school and municipal bonds, based upon safe security, are rendered unde-sirable to foreigners because of the faulty regulations and conditions at-tending their issue. Hence it is be-lieved Japan's financial condition would deter her from precipitating a war with

The number of wrecks of the grip seen trying to walk about the streets here is noticeably large. The sifficted say they have been deprived not only of the muscular strength of their arms and legs, but that even their heads are wrong and that they seem incapable of rightly directing their movements or reading understandingly. They also blame the medical profession for not being able to cure them and in their desperation resort to whisky, though if their aliments result, as is likely, from kidney trouble, that is the worst thing they can use. But desperate men don't care what they do, and there is nothing better calculated to make a man desperate than to feel that death has his clutches upon him.

There is considerable mystery about the syndicate that is after the Western Maryland, and the negotiations with Mayor Hayes and the city financial officials have been conducted secretly. In railroad and financial circles it is said that Reading interests are back of the syndicate, and that in addition to securing a tidewater outlet at Baltimore, the Reading and the powers controlling it want a section of the Chasapeake & Ohio Canal to enable it to compete with the Baltimore & Ohio in the soft coal regions of western Maryland and West Virginis. The Baltimore & Ohio now practically controls the canal and the

HELD FOR COURT. Floyd Noonan, who was ledged in jail at Belair, Md., Friday night by Sheriff Kinhart on the charge of running off with Beseie C. Scarborough, daughter of William Scarborough, of Mill Green, Harford county, Md., was given a hearing before Justice Hawkins yesterday. The case occupied about thirty minutes, resulting in Noonan being sent to jail in default of $1,000 bail to await the action of the grand jury, which meets in May, the charge being abduction. Noonan and Miss Scarborough, were not permitted to listen to the testimony, upon the request of State's Attorney McNabb, who is a personal friend of the Scarboroughs. Mr. Cooley, counsel for Noonan, also requested that such people be excluded from the room. Mrs. Scarborough and Bessie were not present at the ning off with Bessie C. Scarborough and Bessie were not present at the trial, as it was thought that sufficient tes mony could be produced to hold Noonan without them. The witnesses Noonan without them. The witnesses for the state were Mr. Scarborough and Sheriff Kinhart. Noonan, by advice of his counsel, did not testify. Mr. Joseph T. Hoopes, for whom Noonan worked quite awhile, testified to his good character, as did also Dr. J. J. Healy, of near Dublin, Lawyer Cooley also went upon the stand in defense of Noonan, and testified to the Scarborath. and testified to the Scarborough girl confessing to him that she had made overtures to Noonan more than once in reference to running away, and also that she loved him and was now willing to stay with him during his confine-ment in j.il. Sheriff Kindart after-wards stated to the magistrate that No nan had confessed to him that he No nan had confessed to him that he had kept company with Miss Scarborough night and day during the entire time they were out of the county. Unless Noonan can produce satisfactory bail he will spend his time in jail until the May term of court, to which session the whole matter has been referred. Noonan and Miss Scarborough, it will a term bard was a session to the whole matter has been referred. be remembered, were arrested in this city last Friday. CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ASSAILED .- Rev.

Dr. Albert G. Lawson, of Camden N. J., read a paper before the Bantist Micisters' Conference in New York in of Christian Science. Some of them, as reported in the Evening Post, were: "What is known as Christian Science is at once a personality, a literature, a philosophy, a professed school of the science and a professedly Christian Church. To get a complete view of the angles. As to the personslity, of Mrs. Eddy, it is not too much to say that she is a pretender, and that fact can be legally established. As a literature, Christian Science is merely a hodge-Christian Science is merely a hodgepodge, without system or order or original ideas or good sense. Its philesophy is rejected by every competent student of philosophy, and as a science it discredits every scientific demonstration. As a professedly Christian Church the organization throws down every vital doctrine of Christianity. It is, moreover, an immoral system, and it is bound to bring a sad harvest of corruption. If it had not been for its pretended power to heal it never would have attained notoriety. Its healers collect their fees in advance, and I have never heard of any of their so-called churches doing one bit of humanitarian work among the poor and the unfortunate."

England says, apropos the emigration of women, that such a procedure will affect the mother country even more than the colonies, there being nearly a million more women than men in the United Kingdom. Indeed, the point made by Mr. Chamberlain and other speakers at the recent meeting of the British Woman's Emigration Association was not so much the value of more women to the colonies as the advantage of fewer women to England, Scotland, Wales and, incidentally, Ireland, "The Great Britain," said Mr. Chamberlain,
"is that women cannot follow the natural course of life; and not being able to look forward to becoming wives and mothers and heads of families, they are ostling one another in the struggle for existence, and so great is the competi-tion that the wages of women are in many cases inadequate for their honor-able subsistence." "Heads of families" in Eogland is particularly good. Was it Mr. Henry James who called Eog-land "a man's country?" Even such a land can't get away from the etercal feminine in one form or other, it seems.—[N. Y. Evening Suc.

COL. CHAPMAN.-Colonel W. H. Chapman, of Lynchburg a revenue officer, now attending the United States, Court, is a notable man in several respecte. The captain is one of Moshy's daring rangers, and served through the war in that celebrated command. mander, Captain Chapman was appointed to a position in the postal service in 1873, and after seven years' service in that department he was appointed by President Hayes to a position in the revenue service, and is still holding that position. This record of more than twenty-seven years' coatinuous service in a government position in this State in rarely excelled. As a gentleman jokingly remarked last night, this is an instance of the application of the ssying conterping office-holders, "None die and few resign."—Richmond Dispatch.
